National Housing Advocacy Organization and Habitat for the Chesapeake Conclude a Month Long Housing Awareness Campaign

BALTIMORE, MD (October 27, 2011) – Habitat for the Chesapeake and the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials (NAHRO) partnered today to celebrate the conclusion of NAHRO’s Housing America Month 2011, which aims to educate decision makers and the general public about the essential role affordable housing and community development programs play in serving the nation’s most vulnerable.

The build was held at 2414 Jefferson St., Baltimore, MD. The team, which consisted of National NAHRO staff and Habitat volunteers, was tasked with rehabbing a row home.

“The need for affordable housing has never been as critical as it is now, and it is Housing America’s goal to raise awareness for the issue to a new level,” says NAHRO CEO Saul N. Ramirez, Jr. “NAHRO’s partnership with Habitat for Humanity is critical during these difficult times as we both work to better serve those who are the most vulnerable in the community.”
